A LAMENT.

She sleeps that still and pleasant sleep,
For which the weary pant in vain,
And, where the dews of evening weep,
I may not weep again,—
O! never more upon her grave
Shall I behold the wild flowers wave!

They laid her where the sun and moon
Looked on her tomb with loving eye;
And I have heard the breeze of June
Sweep o'er it—like a sigh;
And the wild river's wailing song
Grew dirge-like as it stole along.

And I have dreamt, in many dreams,
Of her who was a dream to me;
And talked of her, by summer streams,
In crowds, and on the sea,
Till in my soul she was enshrined,
A young Egeria of the mind.

'Tis years ago!—and other eyes
Have flung their beauty o'er my youth;
And I have hung on other sighs,
And sounds that seemed like truth;
And loved the music which they gave,
Like that which perished in the grave.

And I have left the cold and dead,
To mingle with the living cold;
There is a weight around my head,
My heart is growing old:
O! for a refuge and a home
With thee, dead Ellen, in thy tomb!

Age sits upon my breast and brain,
My spirit fades before its time,
But they are all thine own, again,
Lost partner of their prime!
And thou art dearer in thy shroud
Than all the false and selfish crowd!

Rise gentle vision of the hours
Which go, like birds that come not back!
And fling the pale and funeral flowers
On Memory's wasted track!
O! for the wings that made thee blest,
To flee away, and be at rest.

VALUABLE AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

APPLES.—There is no prospect of a fair supply of apples in this market this fall, and we apprehend that prices will rule high. We advise all who live convenient to railroads, however distant, where apples are plenty, to make early arrangements for barrelling and sending to market. In New England and New York, the canker worm in spring, the Palmer worm in summer, and drouth and grasshoppers have done the work effectually; so that whole neighborhoods will not produce a barrel. We have traveled a good deal in the last six weeks, and give this as our opinion of the Eastern, Northern and Middle States. The apple crop is a failure.—N. Y. Tribune.

MULES VS. HORSES.—The following estimate in the difference of expense of keeping Mules and Horses, is made by The Southern Planter, which from our acquaintance with these animals, we can endorse:

Ten horses will consume each 12 bbls of corn per annum, say twenty years, which is equal to 2,400 bbls, worth on an average, $2,50 per barrel	$6,000
Shoeing ten horses will cost $30 per annum, ($3 each or more, which we have to pay,) say for twenty years	600
Cost of feeding on corn and shoeing ten horses for twenty years	$6,600
Ten mules will consume each 6 bbls. of corn per annum, say for 20 years which is equal to 1,200 bbls., worth, on an average, 2,50 per barrel—no expense for shoeing	$3,000
Amount saved in 20 years by mules	$3,600

According to this estimate we save $3,600 in twenty years, or about $200 per annum, by having mules instead of horses; and then the mules are much longer-lived and less liable to disease.—Ib.

WOOL TRADE OF GENEVA, N. Y.—It is estimated that the wool trade of this town is near $300,000 per annum. One firm within a year past have paid $120,000. The prices range between 40 and 55 cents. One choice clip sold for 60 cents. Mr. Nicholas, of Geneva county, who keeps a very fine flock, realized over 60 cts, it is said.

WOOL.—Wool buyers in Wyoming County, N. Y., have paid the farmers this season $223,000 for wool.

GREAT YIELD OF WHEAT FROM ONE SEED.—A single grain of seed has produced this season in Wisconsin one hundred and fourteen full headed stalks, containing, probably, four thousand grains. It is estimated that a bushel of plump wheat contains four hundred and forty-eight thousand grains. If only one half of them could be made to go and do likewise, just take your slate and see what would be the yield.—Do we work to the best advantage when we throw such quantities of seed upon the land and so badly prepared that half of it must be lost?

Sowing one bushel of wheat and one-fourth bushel of oats to the acre is highly recommended for places where wheat is liable to winter-kill.

THE POTATO ROT.—This trouble of the farmers seems to be on the increase. The Peekskill Republican says:

"The potato rot, which made its appearance in this section, a short time since, proves to be very general and extensive. The late heavy rains, followed by such intensely warm weather, has proved particularly unfavorable to the healthy growth of the potato."

Our own fond hopes have fallen so low, that we shall be quite satisfied to get as many bushels out of the ground as we put in.

On the Genesee Valley, we hear of but little rot among the potatoes.

In Logan county, Kentucky, the crop has been ruined by a large bug, which strips the stalk of leaves.

A Fredericksburgh (Va.) paper says: The potato crop is shorter this season than it has been for many years. As a general thing, those that are offered, look as though they belonged to a dwarf species.

The price is not at all dwarfish—$1 50 per bushel.

In New England, the rot has severely attacked the potato, and there will, doubtless, be a limited supply of that vegetable. Those who have them will be able to obtain a high price for the article.

The rot is very bad in Massachusetts. The Lynn Bay State says: Samuel Pitman will lose 2,000 bushels on 8 acres.

A Marblehead farmer offers to sell a field of ten acres for five bushels of sound potatoes next spring.

AN OHIO PEACH ORCHARD.—Mr. Davis of Milford county, Ohio, is reported in the Ohio Cultivator as owner of a peach orchard of 100 acres, set with 10,000 trees. In 1850, they averaged one basket, or three quarters of a bushel per tree, which brought him $10,000. This paid for his land and trees, and something to spare. Last year there was no fruit. This year they will average three baskets to a tree. They readily sell for from from $1 25 to $1,50 per basket. The crop of this season will bring him $30,000, with a net profit of $25,000.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Many sections of this State appear to be very thoroughly aroused on the subject of Temperance and a Prohibitory Law. VanWagner with his Big tent, has been speaking in several Counties, and we hear very acceptably. He was at Hollidaysburgh, says a letter before us, on the 14th inst.

In the great Counties of Allegheny and Chester, the regular Whig Legislative ticket is unanimously in favor of the Maine Law. The same is the fact, we believe, in several other Counties. We believe several of the regular Democratic Counties are also in favor of Prohibition.

In Lancaster, the Whig conferees having nominated a License ticket, the friends of Temperance put up a clean ticket against it. We believe the Democrats have agreed to stand out of the way so as to let this be a free fight.

Martain Bell was nominated as the Maine Law candidate for senator in the Huntingdon District on the 14th. Our correspondent writes that he stands a good chance of election. The Convention was a very large one.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—On Saturday two gentlemen of this city who had been to the "Five Mile Lock" shooting, got into a buggy to return home, and one of them lighted a cigar with a piece of punk. When they arrived at the gate two miles from the city, he unbuttoned his coat and put his hand in his pantaloons' pocket for some change, but quickly withdrew it burned. This pocket, portions of his woolen and cotton shirts, and part of his vest were burned, and the fire had heated a flask in his breast pocket so hot that he could not hold it without burning his hand. The flask contained a pound of powder!—Cleveland Herald.

STODART PIANOS.
HAVING been appointed Agent for the sale of the Stodart Pianos, made by D. R. Stanford & Co., 325 Broadway, New York, I desire to inform the public that I have received some of the above named Instruments, and will be happy to show them to any one who will call. In presenting these Pianos to the public, the subscriber wishes to avoid puffing. The Stodart Piano is nothing but a Piano, without any patent nonsense attached to it. These Pianos have gained and still maintain a superiority above others from their own intrinsic merits alone. The subscriber would suggest to those intending to purchase, to give the Stodart Piano a critical examination, both of the interior as well as exterior, and he doubts not but those desirous of possessing a fine toned instrument [illegible] will give the preference to the Stodart Piano. These instruments are now ready for inspection at [illegible] door to B. F. Hollister's Fancy Bazaar.

REVISED AND NEWLY ILLUSTRATED EDITION of
Smith's Geography and Atlas,
To which has been added
ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY.
THIS work has been very much enlarged, embellished with new illustrations throughout, designed expressly for it, critically corrected and thoroughly revised, so as to conform to the census of the United States for 1850—to that of Great Britain and Ireland, March 1851, and to the last that could be obtained of other countries. The acquisition of territory to the United States, the discovery of the mineral wealth of California and Australia, and the establishment of steam communication between remote parts of the earth, has greatly increased geographical knowledge. The information thus obtained has been carefully collected and inserted in this edition. It has been not only necessary to correct the maps of former editions, but to add new maps of the States of California and Texas, of the Territories of Oregon, Washington, Utah, New Mexico, Nebraska, and the countries of Mexico and Central America, which have been done from the latest and best authorities. A large map of the Roman Empire is also added, to aid in the study of Ancient Geography. [illegible] The Atlas has been not only thoroughly revised, corrected and enlarged as stated above, but also contains a large number of new and interesting statistical tables, from the census of the United States and other sources. It will be bound in stiff cover only. A set of questions, for general revision, is appended to the work, which will be found of great convenience to the Teacher and aid to the Scholar [illegible] These improvements and additions will greatly enhance the value of the work, and if the views and wishes of the author are fully carried out, much valuable time of the pupil will be saved, and great labor on the part of the teacher avoided.
Smith's Series of Geography consists of Smith's Primary Geography for Beginners. Smith's Quarto Geography. And the Geography and Atlas mentioned above. For sale by Booksellers generally throughout the United States. Committees, Teachers and others engaged in the cause of Education, will be supplied with copies for examination. Published by DANIEL BURGESS & CO., No. 60 John st., N. Y.

THE NEW YORK ORGAN.

It is now received as a pretty well settled matter that the establishment of President Pierce's Official Organ in New York city, under the management of Col. Forney, is indefinitely postponed, by which we may understand that it is postponed for all time. We are sincerely glad that Mr. Pierce has had enough good sense and judgment left to enable him to come to this conclusion. The establishment of a paid mouth-piece of the Government, in New York or any other city, would be, in our opinion, a most unwise, and useless proceeding. What reliance could any one place in the statements and opinions of a press which was ostensibly and openly venal—which was established for the avowed purpose of supporting all the measures of an administration, no matter what shape those measures might assume, or how revolting they might be to the public at large, and even to the real heart of the man who had sold himself to defend them. The influence of any paper depends in a very great degree upon the estimate which its readers place upon its veracity and its independence. If these be unquestioned, the statements and the teachings of that sheet are received with undoubting faith—if otherwise, its words fall powerless to the ground. Nothing can exceed the contempt with which honest men look upon a Press, fed by pap, and bound to sustain its very existence, by upholding measures which it may really despise, and attack principles which it may really cherish. It needed but this one step to degrade Mr. Pierce to a level, we had almost said, with the trembling despots of the Old World. We are sincerely glad, we again repeat, that he has concluded not to take it, for as an American, we should blush to live under an administration so conscious of the wrong and iniquity of its measures, as to feel constrained to hire a Press in the metropolis of the Union, to defend them; knowing right well that no free man throughout the land would lift up his voice on the side of wrong and guilt.—Unhappy indeed must that Ruler be, who, presiding over a nation of free, loyal and patriotic men, dares not trust to their support in the measures which he takes for their control and government, but in his fear and weakness, conscious either of real or fancied faithlessness to his trust, commits his support and defence to hirelings, who laud him and his acts, for so many pieces of silver counted out and paid down to them by the hand of their master and their Lord! May we never be cursed with such a ruler—may Franklin Pierce never stoop low enough to put in execution the thought which he has harbored in his heart, and which had almost ripened into action.

THE FRENCH MISSION.

From our latest Washington intelligence we have every reason to believe, that Mr. Pierce has decided upon giving the French Mission to the Hon. John Y. Mason. Mr. Mason is one of the "F. F. V's"—was Secretary of the Navy under Mr. Polk, and is the immortal drafter of the Fugitive Slave Law. We have nothing to say of the fitness of the appointment if it be made; it suits us well enough. But what will Mr. Dix say? If, after all he has done and said to secure that mission, he has the unspeakable bitterness of seeing the prize fall into the hands of one who has not forsworn his soul to gain it, who can portray his disappointment! Who can describe the indignation of the soft-shells at such a untoward consummation of their expectations! Can it be possible that Mr. Pierce is wicked enough to tempt poor, confiding Senator Dix into an abdication of his long cherished and boldly avowed principles, by the love of an Embassy, and then, when he has him fairly won over, not only refuse him the glittering gift, but add insult to injury, by offering it to another!—Oh for shame! for shame!

A "POEM."

We have no hesitation whatever in remarking that we have received from an "unknown" correspondent a "Poem" which "beats the Dutch." We know that in using this expression, we are saying much, but we do say in all sincerity and truth, we have received a poem "which beats the Dutch." Our experience in poetry is some—we may say considerable. Not that we ever essayed to mount Parnassus on a Pegasus of our raising. We have never felt our bosom all a glow with poetic fire, nor have our eyes, to our knowledge, ever been "in a fine frenzy rolling" while engaged in composition. We have never dabbled in rhymes with any other, or higher desire than to straighten some very crooked feet, or brighten up so very misty metaphors. Our poetical experience has been chiefly confined to reading the effusions of others, and had we read all that has been presented to us, we should never have been able to read anything else. Our friends will scarcely believe the amount of poetical inspiration that is diffused throughout the country. Why, we are only one of the many Editors in this vicinity, and we presume that others are favored in the same proportion as ourselves. Let us see. We receive on an average, three Epics; Eight poems in Cantos, after Byron, (and a strict regard for the truth compels us to state that they are a very long way after,) several hundred poems of the affections, of Domestic life, and of futurity; about an equal quantity of addresses to Queen Victoria, Gen. Pierce, Mrs. Stowe, Fredrick Douglass, and "My Baby;" a number which no man can number, of sonnets on the hopes, fears, aspirations, passions, longings and looking forward to; thirty or forty elaborate impromptus; and one and half dramas in blank verse, blank enough in all conscience, in which some slight resemblance can be traced to the Tragedy of Hamlet withwith the part of Hamlet omitted.

After this statement, no one will accuse us of vanity when we say that we consider ourselves entitled to a respectable position in the poetical world, nor doubt the veracity of our opening statement, that we have received a poem which beats the Dutch. The poem in question is inscribed to "A Friend in Chicago" and is intended to exalt the beauties of the "Paraross" round about. The writer comes

> [illegible]

Which is doing pretty well for a start. A few verses further on the writer breaks forth thus:

> [illegible]

Without stopping to remark on the beauty and originality of the metre of this stanza we would just say that it appears to us that a "scene" where nothing could not be seen, would be rather like motionless cataracts, cold bonfires, and noiseless thunder. But the writer again goes into a rhapsody.

> [illegible]

Will not our readers be willing to coincide in our opening remarks, that we had received a poem that beats the Dutch?

OPEN TO LAFAYETTE.—The Northern division of the New Albany and Salem Railroad is completed, and passengers can now pass from Chicago to Lafayette and Indianapolis during one day,—leaving here by the morning train on the Michigan Central Railroad, for Michigan City; thence without delay to Lafayette, and thence to Indianapolis arriving nine hours after leaving this city. This is the best route to Cincinnati, or any part of Ohio east or south of Columbus. The time occupied from Indianapolis is nine hours, and thence to Cincinnati, six hours. Thence by the Michigan Southern, and Little Miami, from Sandusky, or the Cleveland and Columbus, from twenty to twenty-five hours.—To Louisville, Kentucky, the route via Lafayette and Indianapolis is now the quickest,—being by railroad to Madison, and thence fifty miles by steamer.—The route is destined to be a popular one as soon as the advantages are known; but it has been opened with so little noise, that very few travelers know anything about it.

COMMERCIAL STATISTICS.

No 21 of the Chicago Letter Sheet Price Current was issued from this office yesterday. It contains information in reference to the Produce Trade of the present year, that we thought might be interesting to other readers than the commercial circles for which it was intended, and take the liberty of transferring some extracts to the columns of the Tribune.

"The Produce market, during the past 10 days has been as excited and fluctuating, in reference to some staples, as we have ever seen it. The foreign news, brought by the steamers Atlantic, Asia and Europa, in succession, was of such a character as to induce an uncommon spirit of speculation in reference to Flour and Wheat, in which Corn, Oats and Rye sympathised to some extent. The highest figure Wheat attained was $1,10 for prime winter and 1,05 for prime spring. For two days, almost any quality of new spring readily commanded $1 per bu., a higher price than it has attained since 1847, when, it will be recollected, the Irish famine prevailed. This brought forward large receipts of Wheat from railroad, as will be seen by reference to our statistical statements annexed. This statement of things caused very full receipts at Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Milwaukee, and all the ports on the lakes, and this fact, in connection with a rapid advance in lake and Erie canal freights, alone gave a check to the advancing prices and speculative spirit. A slight reaction followed, and prices fell off slightly—subsequently, on Friday, the news by the Franklin and Niagara was received and again weakened the markets. Still later, when the detailed news by these steamers was received prices further fell off, and under a continuance of present large receipts, and a steady advance in freights, together with the approach of the seasons when lake navigation will be suspended, no change for higher rates is expected, except under extraordinary circumstances."

The following is a statement of the receipts of Flour, Wheat, Corn, Oats, Barley and Rye by Railroad and Canal, for the first seventeen days of September:

	R. R.	Canal.	Total.
Flour, bbls.	1,517	588	2,105
Wheat, bu.	104,220	15,137	119,357
Corn do	24,276	112,017	136,293
Oats, do	58,023	101,210	159,233
Barley, do	12,006	500	12,506
Rye, do	7,910	——	7,910

By changing the flour to grain, according to the usual standard, we have a total receipt, during the first seventeen days of September, of 444,781 bushels of grain.

The receipts from the same sources from the first of January to the 17th inst., both inclusive, have been as follows:

	R. R.	Canal.	Total.
Flour, bbls	15,400	3,087	18,487
Wheat, bu	351,689	143,735	495,424
Corn, do	156,162	1,926,876	2,083,038
Oats, do	272,158	596,309	868,467
Barley, do	35,282	21,226	56,508
Rye, do	9,141	1,117	10,258

Counting the flour as grain, according to the usual standard, the total receipts from these two sources amount to 3,595,382 bushels.

By reference to our statistics of the Commerce of the Canal for 1852, we find that the receipts of Corn from that source, up to this time, have already exceeded the entire receipts of last year by 114,146 bus; Wheat, 14,484 do; and Flour, 1,941 barrels. Of Oats, the receipts up to this time, are 237,394 bushels less than the whole receipts of 1852. It is evident, from this statement of the present year's business on the Canal, that receipts of Flour and Grain, from that source will exceed the receipts of last year by full 1,000,000 bushels.

On the other hand, there has been a most remarkable falling off in the receipts from Railroad compared with last year.—The receipts for the whole of last year, and of the first eight and a half month of the present show as follows:

	1852.	1853.
Flour, bbls	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wheat, bu	[illegible]	[illegible]
Corn, do	[illegible]	[illegible]
Oats, do	[illegible]	[illegible]
Barley, do	[illegible]	[illegible]

During the remainder of the present year there is no doubt that Wheat will be received in sufficient quantity to exceed last year's receipts by 200,000 bushels; but there must be a falling off in Corn of 300,000 bushels, and 100,000 do of Oats. There is a prospect, therefore, of the receipts of grain from the G. & C. R. R., during the present year, falling 200,000 bushels behind the receipts of 1852. The shipments of Flour and Grain, from this port, for the first seventeen days of September, and also for the season, up to, and including that time as appears by the collector's books, were as follows:

	Sept.	Season.		Sept.	Season.
Flour, bbls	1,772	[illegible]	Wheat, bu	[illegible]	[illegible]
Corn, bu	[illegible]	[illegible]	Oats, do	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rye, bu	[illegible]	[illegible]	Barley, do	[illegible]	[illegible]

By changing the Flour to grain, according to the usual standard, we have, as the total shipments, according to the Collector's books, for the present year, up to Sept 17, 2,811,795 bus. The receipts, during the same time, from canal and railroad, being 3,595,382 bushels there are 784,087 bus. to be accounted for, besides all that has come forward by teams. It is evident, from this, that the Collector's books do not show the full shipments, as there is very little more in store here at this time.

Freights have steadily advanced during the week, and we are now fully 2½a3c better on Oats, and 3c on Corn and Wheat than one week ago. Present rates, by both sail and propeller, may be quoted at 6c for Oats, 8a9c for Corn, and 9½a10c for Wheat to Buffalo. Lumber vessels are also getting a slight advance on transient cargoes. On the Canal, freights are firm, and have an upward tendency. A rise of two feet in the Illinois river would effect a rapid advance, and produce high rates of freight on this channel.

SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The following are the particulars of the loss of the schooner GEORGE C. SMALLEY and three of her passengers, as taken from the Green Bay Advocate:

> She left St. Martin's for Washington Harbor on the 5th inst., with eight persons on board; when about two hours out she filled with water and capsized, placing the persons on board in an awful position. Soon after a little girl unable to cling longer to the boat, was drowned. From 3 o'clock P. M. on Monday until 5 A. M. on Tuesday, the boat drifted about in the bay, during which time two more persons, Mr. N. Curtis and his wife, parents of the little girl previously lost, were drowned. The wreck then struck on the northern beach of Washington Island, where the almost exhausted survivors were extricated from their awful situation.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—During the storm of Sunday evening several houses in and near Milwaukee, was struck by lightning, although happily no lives were lost. One of the buildings, occupied by Capt. Merril was struck several times, sustaining great injury. The Daily Sentinel says:

> "The family were preparing their tea in the kitchen, when one of them suggested the propriety of leaving the kitchen on account of the stove; they had barely left, and got into a bed room, when the roof of the kitchen was struck, shivering two of the rafters to atoms, as well as splintering some of the others, displacing the stove, and breaking a large looking glass. In the bed room, and within ten feet of where one of the family was standing, the glass of the windows was broken, also a looking glass on which the quicksilver was melted. The lightning drilled several holes in the plastering.—Directly after it struck the bed room, it struck the corner of the house, passed through the parlor, chipping pieces out of the furniture and making holes in the plastering, in some places through the studding. The roof boards were torn off and pieces ten feet in length thrown across the road. Pieces several feet square of the clapboards were torn off, as well as the corner boards and shingles. In some places the shingles are off for a yard square, and have been found as far as 12 rods from the building.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE for October, is received. It is a very entertaining number.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The receipts of this road for the first two weeks of September, ending on the 14th, compare favorably, as it will be seen by the following figures, with the receipts of the same time last year, which were considered extraordinarily good. The receipts for both years are as follows:

	1853.	1852.
From Passengers	[illegible]	[illegible]
From Freight	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]	[illegible]

COUNTERFEITER ARRESTED.—On Thursday night Under Sheriff Conover arrested a man named Jas. Johnson, on the Mukwonago road, some 16 miles from here, on suspicion that he was an accomplice of Harris, in the cattle stealing adventure at Bell's Tavern; but, on examination, a quantity of counterfeit bills—mostly on the Hungerford Bank—were found in his possession, and a number of bogus gold dollars. It turns out that he was not engaged with Harris in stealing the cattle, but will be detained at least until some satisfactory explanation can be given for his having counterfeit money about him.—Milwaukee Democrat.

NEW VESSEL.—The Grey Hound is the name of a new and beautiful brig, which has just made her appearance in our harbor. Her dimensions are as follows:—130 feet keel, 28 feet beam, 11 feet hold, 266 tons burthen, and will carry 16,000 bushels of wheat. She was built at Conneaut, by Messrs. Howard & Lyon, under the immediate superintendence of Capt. Lent, who modelled her. She is owned by Messrs. Fox & Bruce, and is to run in Fox's Clipper Line, between this port and Chicago, under the command of Capt. W. D. Robinson, formerly of the schooner Nebraska, a man who is every inch a sailor.—Buff. Exp.

SPEECH OF WILLIAM H. SEWARD,

AT THE DEDICATION OF

Capital University, Columbus, Ohio,

SEPTEMBER 14, 1853.

(CONCLUSION.)

The example of Rome is often commended to us for our emulation. Let us consider it, then, with becoming care. Rome had indeed forms of religion and morals and a show of philosophy and the arts, but in none of these was there more than the faintest recognition of a universal Humanity. Her predecessor, Greece, had, in a brilliant but brief and precocious career, invented the worship of nature, or, in other words, the worship of deities which were only names given to the discovered forces of nature. This religion did not, indeed, exalt the human mind to a just conception of the Divine, but, on the other hand, it did not altogether consign it to the sphere of sensuality. Rome, unfortunately, rejected even this poor religion, because it was foreign, and because it was too spiritual; and in its stead she established one which was practically the worship of the State itself. The Senate elected gods for Rome, and these were expected to reward that distinguishing partiality by showing peculiar and discriminating favor to the people of Rome, and the same political authority appointed creed, precepts, ritual and priesthood. Does it need amplification to show what the character of the creed, the precepts, the ritual and the priesthood thus established necessarily were? All were equally licentious and corrupt.

As was the religion, so of course were the morals of Rome. Ambition was the sole motive of the State. At first every town in Italy, and afterwards every nation, however remote, was regarded as an enemy to be conquered, not in retaliation for any injuries received, nor even for the purpose of amending its barbarous institutions and laws, but to be despoiled and enslaved, that Rome might be rich, and might occupy the whole world alone. Fraud, duplicity and treachery might be practiced against the foreigner, and every form of cruelty might be inflicted upon the captive who had resisted in self defense or in defense of his country. Military valor not only became the highest of virtues, but exclusively usurped the name of virtue. The act of parricide was the highest of crimes, not however because of its gross inhumanity, but because by a legal fiction the father was a sacred type of the Roman state. The sway of Rome, as it spread over the world as then known, nevertheless gravitated towards the city, and centered in the Order of Patricians.—The Plebeians were degraded and despised because their ancestors were immigrants. Below the Plebeians there was yet a lower order, consisting of prisoners of war and their offspring, always numerous enough to endanger the safety of the state. These were slaves, and the code of domestic servitude established for the captured Africans and their descendants in some parts of our own country is a moderated edition of that which Rome maintained for the government of slaves as various in nation, language and religion as the enemies she conquered.—These orders, mutually hostile and aggressive, were kept asunder by discriminating laws and carefully cherished prejudices. The Patricians divided the public domain among themselves, although Plebeian blood was shed as profusely as their own in acquiring it. The Patricians alone administered justice, and they even kept the forms of its administration a profound mystery sealed against the knowledge of those for whose safety and welfare the laws existed. The Plebeian could approach the courts only as a client in the footsteps of a Patrician patron, and for his aid in obtaining that justice, which of course was an absolute debt of the state, the Patrician was entitled to the support of his client in every enterprise of personal interest and ambition. Thus did Rome, while enslaving the world, blindly prepare the machinery to her own overthrow by the agency of domestic faction. Industry in Rome was dishonored. The Plebeians labored with the slaves. Patricians scorned all employment but that of agriculture and the service of the state. And so Rome rejected Commerce and the Arts. The person of the Patrician was inviolable, while the Plebian forfeited liberty and for a long period even life by failure to pay debts which his very necessities obliged him to contract. The slaves held their lives by the tenure of their master's forbearance, and what that forbearance was we learn from the fact that they arrayed the slaves against each other when trained as gladiators in mortal combat for the gratification of their own pride and the amusement of the people.—Punishments were graduated, not by the inherent turpitude of the crimes committed, nor by the injury or danger resulting from them to the State, but by the rank of the offender. What was that Roman liberty of which in such general and captivating descriptions, we read so much? The Patrician enjoyed a licentious freedom, the Plebeian an uncertain and humiliating one, extorted from the higher order by practices of sedition. According to the modern understanding of popular rights and character, there was no people in Rome. So at least we learn from Cicero. "Non est enim consilium in vulgo. Non ratio, non discrimen, non diligentia. Semperque sapientes ea quæ populus non laudanda."

The domestic affections were stifled in that wild society. The wife was a slave, and might be beaten, transferred to another lord, or divorced at pleasure. The father slew his children whenever their care and support became irksome, and the state approved the act. In such a society, the rich and great of course grew always richer and greater, and the poor and low, always poorer and more debased; and yet throughout all her long career, did Rome never establish one public charity, nor has history preserved any memorable instance of private benevolence. Such was the life of Rome under her kings and consuls. She attained the end of her ambition, and became, as her historian truly boasts, "Populus Romanus victor dominusque omnium gentium." But at the same time the city trembled always at the very breathing of popular discontent, and every citizen, and even the Senate, generals and consuls, were every hour the slaves of superstitious fears of the withdrawal of the favor of the gods. The people, sighing for milder and more genial laws, after the lapse of many centuries recovered the lost code which the good King Numa had received from the goddess Egeria. Do we wonder that the Senate interdicted its publication, lest it might produce agitation dangerous to the public peace? Or can we be surprised when we read that Cicero, whose philosophy was only less than divine, when he found that the Republic was actually falling into ruins, implored his new academy to be silent?

You know well the prolonged but fearful catastrophe, the civil and the servile wars, the dictatorship, the usurpation, the empire, the military despotism, the insurrections in the provinces, the invasion by barbarians, the division and the dismemberment and the fall of the State, the extinction of the Roman name, language and laws, and the destruction of society and even civilization itself, not only in Italy, but throughout the world, and the consequent darkness which overshadowed the earth throughout seven centuries. This is the moral of a State whose material life is stimulated and perfected, while its spiritual life is neglected and extinguished.

And now it is seen that the Future which we ought to desire for our country, involves, besides merely physical prosperity and aggrandizement, corresponding intellectual development and advancement in virtue also. Has our spiritual life hitherto improved equally with our material growth?

It is not easy to answer the question. We were at first a small and nearly a homogeneous people. We are now eight times more numerous, and we have incorporated large and various foreign elements in our society. We were originally a rural and agricultural people. Now one seventh of our population is found in manufacturing towns and commercial cities. We then were poor, and lived in constant apprehension of domestic disorder and of foreign danger, and we were at the same time distrustful of the capacity and stability of our novel institutions. We are now relatively rich, and all those doubts and fears have vanished. We must make allowance for this great change of circumstances, and we must remember also that it is the character of the great mass of society now existing that is to be compared with, not heroic models of the Revolutionary age, but with society at large as it then existed.

It is certain that society has not declined.—Religion has, indeed, lost some of its ancient austerity, but, waiving the question whether asceticism is a just test of religion, we may safely say that the change which has occurred is only a compromise with foreign elements of religion, for who will deny that those elements are purer and more spiritual here than the systems existing abroad from which they have been derived? Nor can it be denied that, while the ecclesiastical systems existing among us have been, with even more than our rigorous early jealousy, kept distinct and separate from the political conduct of the State, religious institutions have been multiplied relatively with the advance of settlement and population, and are every where well and effectually sustained. At the era of Independence we had little intellectual reputation, except what a bold and successful metaphysician and a vigorous explorer in natural philosophy had won for us. We have now, I think, a recognized and respectable rank in the republic of letters. It is true, indeed, that we have produced few great works in speculative science and polite literature, but those are not the departments which, during the last half century, have chiefly engaged the human mind. A long season of political reform and recovery from exhausting wars has necessarily required intellectual activity in reducing into use the discoveries before made, and we may justly claim that, in applying the elements of science to the improvement and advancement of agriculture, art and commerce, we have not been surpassed.

I do not seek to disguise from myself, nor from you, the existence of a growing passion for territorial aggrandizement, which often exhibits a gross disregard of justice and humanity. Nevertheless, I am not one of those who think that the temper of the nation has become already unsettled. Accidents favoring the indulgence of that passion have been met with a degree of selfdenial that no other nation ever practiced. Aggrandizement has been incidental, while society has nevertheless bestowed its chief care on developments of natural resources, reforms of political constitutions, melioration of codes, the diffusion of knowledge and the cultivation of virtue. If this benign policy has been chiefly exercised within the domain of State authority, and has not reached our Federal system, the explanation is obvious in the fact that the popular will is, by virtue of the Federal Constitution, slower in reaching that system, and that we have inherited fears which seemed patriotic, of the danger of severance of the Union, to result from inovation. If we have not in the Federal Government forsaken, as widely as we ought to have done, systems of administration borrowed from countries where liberty was either unknown or was greatly abriged, and so have maintained armies and navies and diplomacy on a scale of unnecessary grandeur and ostentation, it can hardly be contended that they have in any great degree corrupted the public virtue. Inquiry is now more active than it has heretofore been, and it may not be doubted that the Federal action will hereafter, tho' with such moderation as will produce no danger and justify no alarm, be made to conform to the sentiments of prudence, enterprise, justice and humanity which prevail among the people.

Looking through the States which formed the Confederacy in its begining, we find, as general facts that public order has been effectually maintained, public faith has been preserved, and public tranquility has been undisturbed, and justice has everywhere been regularly administered, and generally with impartiality.—We have established a system of education, which, it is true, is surpassed by many European Institutions in regard to the instruction afforded, but which is nevertheless far more equal and universal in regard to the masses which are educated, and we are begining to see that system adapted equally to the education of both sexes, and of all races, which is a feature altogether new, even in modern civilization, and promises the most auspicious results to the cause of Liberty and Virtue. Our literature half a century ago, was altogether ephemeral, and scarcely formed an element of moral or political influence. It is now marked with our own national principles and sentiments, and exerts every day an increasing influence on the national mind. The Journalist Press, originally a feeble institution, often engaged in exciting the passions and alarming the fears of society, and dividing it into uncompromising and unforgiving factions, has been constantly assuming a higher tone of morality, and more patriotic and humane principles of action. There are indeed gross abuses of the power of suffrage, but still our popular elections, on the whole, express the will of the people, and are even less influenced by authority, prejudice and passion, than heretofore. Slavery, an institution that was at first quite universal, has now come to be acknowledged as a peculiar one in only a portion of the States. And if, as I doubt not, you, like myself, are impatient of its continuance, then you will nevertheless find ground for much satisfaction in the fact that the foreign slave trade has been already, by unanimous consent of all the States, condemned and repudiated, that manumission has been effected in half of the States, and that, notwithstanding the great political influence which the institution has been able to organize, a healthful, constant, and growing public sentiment, nourished by the suggestions of sound economy, and instincts of justice and humanity, is leading the way with marked advance toward a complete and universal, though just and peaceful emancipation.

It must be borne in mind now that all this moral and social improvement has been effected, not by the exercise of any authority over the People, but by the People themselves, acting with freedom from all but self imposed restraints.

Of the new States, it is happily true that they have, almost without exception, voluntarily organized their governments according to the most perfect models furnished by the elder members of the confederacy; that they have uniformly maintained law, order and faith; while they have, with wonderful forecast, been even more munificent than the older States in laying broad foundations of liberty and virtue. On the whole, we think that we may claim that, under the Republican system established here, the people have governed themselves safely and wisely, and have enjoyed a greater amount of prosperity and happiness, than under any form of constitution that was ever before or elsewhere vouchsafed to any portion of mankind.

Nevertheless, this review proves only that the measure of knowledge and virtue we possess is equal to the exigency of the Republic, under the circumstances in which it was organized.—Those circumstances are passing away and we are entering a career of wealth, power, and expansion. In that career it is manifest that we shall need higher intellectual attainments and greater virtue as a nation than we have hitherto possessed, or else there is no adaptation of means to ends in the scheme of the Divine Government. Nay, we shall need, in this new emergency, intellect and virtue surpassing those of the honored founders of the Republic. I am aware that this proposition will seem to you equally unreasonable and irreverent. Nevertheless, you will, on a moment's reflection, admit its truth. Did the invention of the nation stop with the discoveries of Fulton and Franklin? On the contrary, those philosophers, if they could now revisit the earth, would bow to the genius which has perfected the steam engine and the telegraph, with a homage as profound as that with which we honor their own great memory. So I think Jefferson and even Washington under the same circumstances, instead of accusing us of degeneracy, would be lost in admiration of the extent and perfection to which we have safely carried in practice the theory of self-government which they established amid so much uncertainty, and bequeathed to us with so much distrust. Shall we acquit ourselves of obligation if we rest content with either the achievements, the intelligence or the virtues of our ancestors? If so, then the prospect of mankind is hopeless indeed, for then it must be true that not only is there an impassable stage of social perfection, but that we have reached it, and that henceforth not only we but all mankind must recede from it, and civilization must everywhere decline. Such a hypothesis does violence to every power of the human mind and every hope of the human heart. Moreover, these energies and aspirations, are the forces of a divine nature within us, and to admit that they can be stifled and suppressed is to contradict the manifest purposes of human existence. Yet it will be quite absurd to claim that we are fulfilling these purposes if we should fail to produce hereafter benefactors of our race equal to Fulton and Franklin and Adams, and even Washington. Let us hold these honored characters indeed as models, but not of unapproachable perfection. Let us, on the contrary, weigh and fully understand our great responsibilities. It is well that we can rejoice in the renown of a Cooper, an Irving and a Bancroft, but we have yet to give birth to a Shakspere, a Milton and a Bacon. The fame of Patrick Henry and of John Adams may suffice for the past, but the world will yet command of us a Burke and a Demosthenes. We may repose for the present upon the fame of Morse and Fulton and Franklin, but Human Society is entitled to look to us ere long for a Des Cartes and a Newton. If we disappoint these expectations and acknowledge ourselves unequal to them, then how shall it be made to appear that freedom is better than slavery, and Republicanism more conducive to the welfare of mankind than Despotism? To cherish aspirations humbler than these is equally to shrink from our responsibilities and dishonor the memory of the ancestors we so justly revere.

And now I am sure that your hearts will sink into some depth of despondency when I ask whether American society now exhibits the influence of these higher but necessary aspirations. I think that everywhere there is confessed a decline from the bold and stern virtue which at some previous time was inculcated and practiced in Executive councils and in Representative chambers. I think that we all are conscious that recently we have met questions of momentous responsibility, in the organization of governments over our newly acquired territories, and appeals to our sympathy and aid for oppressed nations abroad, in a spirit of timidity and of compromise. I think that we are all conscious of having abandoned something of our high morality in suffering important post of public service at home and abroad to fall sometimes into the hands of mercenary men, destitute of true republican spirit, and of generous aspirations to promote the welfare of our country and of mankind:

> "Souls that the hope of future praise inflame, > Cold and insensible to glorious fame."

I think that we are accustomed to excuse the national demoralization which has produced these results, on the ground that the practice of a sterner virtue might have disturbed the harmony of society, and endangered the safety of that fabric of union on which all our hopes depend. In this we forget that a nation must always recede if it be not actually advancing—that as Hope is the element of progress, so Fear, "admitted into public counsels, betrays like Treason."

But there is nevertheless no sufficient reason for this distrust of the national virtue. Moral forces are like material forces, subject to conflict and reaction. It is only through successive reactions that knowledge and virtue advance. The great conservative and restorative forces of society remain, and are acquiring all the while even greater vigor than they have ever heretofore exercised. Whether I am right in this opinion, all will agree that an increase of popular intelligence and a renewal of public virtue are necessary. This is saying nothing new, for it is a maxim of political science that all nations must continually advance in knowledge and renew their constitutional virtues or perish. I am sure that we shall do this, because I am sure that our great capacity for advancing the wellfare of mankind has not yet been exhausted, and that the promises we have given to the cause of humanity will not be suffered by him who overrules all human events to the promotion of that cause to fail.

But where is the agency that is to work out these so necessary results? Shall we look to the Press? Yes, we may hope much from the Press, for it is free. It can safely inculcate truth and expose prejudice, error and injustice. The Press moreover is strong and its perfect mechanism, and reaches every mind throughout this ever widening Confederacy. But the Press must have editors and authors, men possessing talent, education and virtue, and so qualified to instruct, enlighten and guide the people.

Shall we look to the sacred desk? Yes, indeed, for it is of divine institution, and is approved by human experience. The ministers of Christ, inculcating divine morals under divine authority with divine sanctions, and sustained and aided by special co-operating influences of the Divine Spirit, are now carrying further and broadly onward the good work of the renewal of the civilization of the world, and its emancipation from superstition and despotism. But the desk must also have ministers; men of talents, education, and virtue, and so qualified to enlighten, instruct and guide mankind.

But however well the Press, the Desk and the popular Tribunal may be qualified to instruct and elevate the people, their success, and consequently their influence, must after all depend largely on the measure of intelligence and virtue possessed by the people when sufficiently matured to receive these instructions. Editors, Authors, Ministers, Statesmen and People all are qualified for their respective posts of duty in the institutions of popular education, and the standard of these is established by that which is recognized among us by the various names of the Academy, the College and the University. We see, then, that the University holds a chief place among the institutions of the American Republic.

I may not attempt to specify at large what the University ought to teach, or how it ought to impart its instructions. That has been confided to abler and more practical hands. But I may insist on the necessity of having the standard of moral duty maintained at its just hight by the University. That institution must be rich and full in the knowledge of the sciences which it imparts, but this is not of itself enough. It must imbue the national mind with correct convictions of the greatness and excellence to which it ought to aspire. To do this it must accustom the public mind to look beyond the mere temporary consequences of actions and events to their ultimate influence on the direction of the Republic and on the progress of mankind. So it will enable men to decide between prejudice and reason, expedience and duty, the demagogue and the statesman, the bigot and the Christian.

The standard which the University shall establish must correspond to the principles of eternal truth and equal justice. The University must be conservative. It must hold fast every just principle of moral and political science that the experience of mankind has approved, but it must also be bold, remembering that in every human system there are always political superstitions upholding physical slavery in some of its modes, as there are always religious superstitions, upholding intellectual slavery in some of its forms; that all of these superstitions stand upon prescription; and that they can only be exploded where opinion itself is free, and reason is ever active and vigorous. But the University must nevertheless practice and teach moderation and charity even to error, remembering that involuntary error will necessarily be mingled also even with its own best instructions, that unbridled zeal overreaches and defeats itself, and that he who would conquer in moral discussion, like him who would prevail in athletic games, must be temperate in all things.

Reverend instructors and benevolent founders of this new institution, by reason of its location in the center of Ohio—itself a central one among these thirty one united communities—must exert an influence that can scarcely be conceived now upon the welfare and fame of our common country. Devote it, then, I pray you, to no mere partisan or sectarian objects.—Remember that the Patriot and the Christian is a partisan or a sectarian, only because the constitution of society allows him no other mode of efficient and beneficial activity. Let "Capital University" be dedicated not to the interests of the beautiful city which it adorns, nor even to the interests of the great and prosperous State, whose patronage I hope it will largely enjoy, nor even to the Republic of which I trust it is destined to become a tower of strength and support. On the contrary if you would make it promote most effectually all these precious interests, dedicate it, I enjoin upon you, as our forefathers dedicated all the institutions which they established,—to the cause of Human Nature.

ROBBERY AND ARREST OF THE THIEVES.—A man and woman were arrested by the City Marshal on Saturday afternoon, for having stolen ninety dollars in gold, belonging to A. Ludwig who keeps a grocery on Huron street. The money was in a drawer in the landlord's bed room and the parties who were arrested, took advantage of his absence for a few minutes to take the money. Thirty five dollars was found on their person by the Marshall, who was instructed by the man and woman to return it to Mr. Ludwig. The Police Justice referred the matter to the Grand Jury, now in session, as well as several other cases brought before them.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Remarkable Case of Scrofula Cured by Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—The son of Mr. Alliday, 209 High street, Cheltenham, when three years old, was afflicted with Scrofula in the neck, and the disease increased so fearfully, that in four years he had ten ulcers on his body, besides a tumor between the eyes. The best medical treatment afforded him no relief, the blood being so corrupt that it was considered impossible to subdue the disease. At this crisis Holloway's Pills and Ointment were resorted to, and with great success; for in two months the boy was soundly cured by their use, and he has continued well for the last three years. se19

HATHAWAY'S
Mathematical and Classical High School,
FOR MALES AND FEMALES,
No. 56..........LAKE STREET..........No. 56.
(CHICAGO, ILL., OPPOSITE THE CITY HOTEL.)
WILL be open for the reception of Pupils on Wednesday, September 14th.
The method of instruction is wholly original, deduced from long practical experience in the field of mind.
Students are taught how to exercise their mental powers—to think and reason—to make their minds familiar with principles—to analyze and combine subjects—trace cause and effect—in short, to acquire MENTAL AND MORAL POWER TO APPLY TO THE MACHINERY OF HUMAN LIFE.
Only a limited number of pupils can be received, and as we have heretofore been obliged to disappoint many who have desired admission, it is advisable for all who wish to make early application to the Principal, or leave their names with references below.
We desire no students who require other inducements to a correct deportment than the importance and pleasures of educational pursuits, the rewards of honor, and the blessings of an approving conscience.
Our system of instruction is identified in the following axiom—The study of Science is the study of God.
The universal satisfaction manifested by all who have enjoyed the benefits of this institution, is the best guarantee we can offer for the future.
Particular attention will be paid to such Ladies and Gentlemen, as may wish to qualify themselves for instructors.
Teachers of the highest order will be secured in all the branches of a substantial and polite literature.
We pledge ourselves to furnish a thorough practical education at less expense than any other institution in the West; yet all who desire comparatively cheap bills of tuition, are advised to call upon other instructors.

THE FRENCH LANGUAGE
Taught in 75 to 100 Lessons.
MONS. JACQUES EMILE HAMILTON
AGAIN offers his services to the Ladies and Gentlemen of this city. He has during the summer made but little, but he trusts that even this little will ensure him full Classes for the winter.
Mons. H. does not offer himself to the public as a Teacher of this Language without sufficient testimony of his ability of imparting it in an infinitely shorter time than is usually required for this purpose. He has in his possession more than fifty letters from some of the most eminent men in this country, recommendatory of his plan of instruction. It has besides been pronounced by the Edinburgh Review, "one of the most useful and important discoveries of the age." The Westminster Review and the American Journal of Education likewise speak of it in the highest terms of praise.
Mons. H. has made an engagement with Mr. Sawyer, Principal of the Chicago Female Seminary, No. 170 Clark st., to attend on the Classes formed in his establishment, and he respectfully invites those Ladies who feel desirous of acquiring a knowledge of this important, useful and most fashionable Language to join the classes now being formed, in which they will be certain of acquiring a correct pronunciation from a native of France.
A PUBLIC CLASS for Gentlemen will be formed to meet on Monday evening, October 3d, at half past seven o'clock.
Private Classes of ladies and gentlemen will be met by Mons. H. in any part of the city.
Application may be made at Mr. H.'s Class Rooms, No. [illegible] Randolph st. near Dearborn st.

LOCAL MATTERS.

To-morrow the Panorama of New York city commences its afternoon Exhibitions. It continues its exhibitions here until Saturday evening. The Hall is crowded at each exhibition, and it deserves all the liberal patronage it is receiving. The Editor of one of our exchanges who had visited the work says Bullard's Panorama "is all our fancy painted it. We visited it one evening, and ever since have felt a strong impression that we had seen not the representative, but the real New York. We are not the only one who feels thus. The other day a customer called for an article of which friend D——'s stock had run short. 'There!' he exclaimed, 'why didn't I think to lay in a supply of that when I was in New York last week!' 'In New York last week!' said his partner, in amazement. 'Yes!—oh!—ah!—I remember!—Bullard's Panorama.' The ands, all round, had to come, on that.

THE ILLINOIS RIVER.

The Peru Chronicle of yesterday, 21st, says: "The river is now falling slowly. The rains that fell last week caused it to raise about ten inches, and it is now about six inches higher than before the raise. There are about 30 inches on the Spring Creek Bar, and 30 on the Hennepin Flats. Freights are, from here to St. Louis, 75 cents, from St. Louis here, about 30 cents.

TO TRAVELERS.—The steamer Republic will leave La Salle to-morrow evening for St. Louis, on the arrival of the morning cars from this city.

MOVEMENT OF VESSELS.—A large fleet arrived at the port of Buffalo on Monday morning. We notice the following from Chicago: propellor Allegheny, barque Illinois, schooners Mark H. Sibley, Suffolk and Fox. The following cleared the same forenoon for this port: propellers Mayflower and Buffalo, barque, Luther Wright, schooners Crescent, Fame and General Taylor.

FALL AND WINTER GARMENTS.—Burwell and Powers, Merchant Tailors, have received their Fall Stock of Cloths and Vestings, and notify the public to that effect in our advertising columns this morning. The firm are from Cleveland, and would be glad to see their Buckeye brethren and all other friends at their store on Dearborn street, under the Tremont House. Give them a call, and you will get a fit worth having.

THE TUNNEL.—Judge Morris, Chairman of the Tunnel Committee, has received a letter from Mr. Gooding, dated Sept. 15th, in which that gentleman says:—"I will, however, lose no time, but have my plans, estimates and report ready as soon as I can, consistently with my other engagements. I think my report will reach you next week without fail."

The document from Mr. Gooding is daily expected. Next week, the Committee will be called together, and some action taken on the report. The public will then have an opportunity to hear what is to be done with the matter. "Give us a Tunnel!" is the watch word.

FOR GREEN BAY.—The steamer Fashion, Capt. Newbery, will leave her docks, foot of Franklin street, this evening at 8 o'clock, for Green Bay, touching at all the way ports. Passengers going North will please take notice.

SPECIAL ELECTION.—There will be a special election to-morrow for a Justice of the Peace, for North Chicago—to fill a vacancy occasioned by the death of Patrick Duffey. There are three candidates in the field—Francis McMurray, C. Pendergast, and John Dunlap. The polls will be held at the house of Owen McCarty, on the corner of Walcott and Kinzie streets.

COLD WEATHER.—The temperature yesterday would have done credit to a November day.—Overcoats and coal fires were necessary, to keep in a comfortable mood. Our Indian Summer, however, will more than make up for the transgression of the past two days. Ye who are strangers to our climate, don't make up your minds that winter has set in.

FOR SAUT STE MARIE.—The favorite steamer Garden City, Capt. Squiers, will leave Spencer's dock foot of State street, this evening at 8 o'clock for the "Soo." She will land at all intermediate ports.

MILITARY.—At a meeting of the Garden City Guards, held at the armory, 16 West Randolph street, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

D. R. Crego, 1st Lieutenant; E. McLeran, 2nd do; M. B. Baker 3d do.; John Lyons, Ensign; Chas. M. Jenkins, O. S.; Geo. T. Wright, 2nd do; Geo. Hatch, 3d do.; A. V. Hurly, 4th do.; Wm. Smith, 1st Corporal; L. Faker, 2nd do.; O. F. Griffith, 3d do., Wm. Hendrie, 4th do.

Capt. THOMAS SHIRLEY, Chairman.
GEO. HATCH, Secretary.

ROBBERY.—A stranger stole a coat on Sunday evening from the Matteson House, and was seen by one of the employees to leave with it on.—Information being given to the landlord, the thief was followed for some distance, but not taken in custody until the following morning when he was found with a stolen gun in his possession. He gave up the coat, which belonged to a gentleman named Eaton, from Massachusetts. The thief was allowed to go, on the delivery of the stolen property, but he will not fare so well the next time.

RECEIPTS OF PRODUCE.—The amount of Produce received by the G. & C. U. R. R. on the 20th, was 90 bbls Flour, 8,414 bushels Wheat; 1,072 do Corn; 3,567 do Oats; 2,664 do Barley; and 1,993 do Rye. Of this amount there was received from Fox river towns, 90 bbls Flour; 2,979 bu. Wheat; 488 do Corn; 1,858 do Oats; 1,856 do Barley, and 524 do Rye,—the remainder coming from stations west of Elgin.

POLICE COURT.

Before Judge Rucker. The following sinners were brought up for trial yesterday morning:

Morris and Mary O'Connell, a couple of full forty years, and reported to have no home except the side-walk, were arrested at 7 o'clock, on Tuesday evening, for being drunk. Mary was exceedingly penitent, and on her knees begged of the Marshall to let her go, but she was too old an offender, and was fined $1, and sentenced to the Bridewell for 30 days. Morris more fortunate, and got off by paying a fine of $1 and costs.

Barney Minerd, drunk at 11½ o'clock, Tuesday night. He thought to be witty, and when asked his name, replied, "Barney let the girls alone." This did not relish well with the Court and Barney was fined $5 and costs, and sentenced to the Bridewell for 10 days. He thought such an infliction would not agree with his constitution.

Martin Burke and Ellen West, disorderly.—The Watch heard a cry of "murder," at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, on Wells street, which was caused by Martin "giving Ellen a dose," creating quite a lump on one side of her head. They had been to a dance, and each "took notice" that the other drank three glasses of whiskey. Martin belonged on board the schooner Reindeer, and was fined $5 and costs; Ellen hailed from the canal boat G. Wolcott, and was let off with a fine of $2 and costs.

James Garvey, "down drunk"—fined $3 and costs.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—The First Baptist Church in Joliet was dedicated on the 13th inst., with appropriate ceremonies. The Signal says: "An eloquent discourse was delivered by Rev. Mr. Burroughs, of Chicago, which was attentively listened to by a large assembly."

THE CHICAGO "CUT OFF."—The Joliet Signal says that Gov. Matteson has returned from his eastern visit with his family, and that while in New York, arrangements were made for the construction of the "Cut-off" railroad, about which so much has been said, and that the work will be put under contract between Laporte and Joliet in a few days.

Yesterday afternoon we had the pleasure of visiting the barque H. C. Winslow, as she lay in the harbor receiving her load. The dimensions of this length craft are of keel, 138 feet; breadth of beam, 25½ feet; depth of hold, 11 feet; tonnage 363 tons. She is commanded by A. W. Moore, and owned by N. C. Winslow, of this city. She was built at Black River, and will run between Buffalo and Chicago, touching at this city. In model, in strength, in every thing which can adorn a vessel of her class, she has few equals, and no superiors on the lakes.—Clev. Forest City.

ST. LOUIS ITEMS.

A man was found on the 16th, floating in the river, near the Keokuk packet landing, with his throat cut. No clue was obtained to his murderers.

A serious riot occurred at Franklin, on the Pacific Railroad route between the Irish laborers and the keepers of the shanties. One man named Thomas Quinn was shot dead and several others were severely wounded.

The Washington Union is in the almost daily habit of landing the administration's appointments in the lump, but we beg it to be a little more specific. Will it please to tell us what it thinks of the appointment of a man to the London Consulship, whom, not more than four months ago, it denounced from day to day as the most pestilent fellow in the Union, and by whom it was itself denounced as the poorest, most unprincipled, and most miserable of all political sheets!—Louisville Journal.

CIRCUIT COURT.

In the matter of the appraisement of damages on Lake Shore, in the case of Charles Walker and others, vs The Illinois Central Railroad Co., before Jason Gurley, Flavel Mosely and George Steele—Commissioners.

Joy and Blackwell for defendant. Arnold Collins, Larned, Maniere and Clapp for plaintiff.

EVIDENCE.

TUESDAY, Sept. 19th, 1853.—Examination resumed.

Capt. Whitaker, for Plaintiff.—Resides in New York—has sailed steamboats, and sail vessels since 1819—have sailed 1st class steamboats on this lake since 1847—always had difficulty in getting up river—in 1847 and '48, was acquainted with Walker property, and then formed an opinion as to its commercial advantage—I went down with C. Walker to look and talk about running out pier like one in question—he said he should build one if he could raise funds—I agreed to run there with steamer "Patchin," and Capt. Randall also with the Empire—we agreed to give $5,00 for dockage for a single steamer, for two days in the week—Randall promised same, and other Steamers and Propellers, I had no doubt would do same—a steamboat could lay there safely in any blow—North and East storms are broken off by shore and North pier—vessels could lay there as safe as in river, and with less danger from collision and accident—out side pier, any practical man would prefer—this is my opinion for last 6 or 7 years—Walker pier worth more than any property in river—pier running from lake and Randolph would be valuable about as this.

EVIDENCE ON PART OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAIL ROAD COMPANY.

Doct. Sears.—Think effect of erection and business of Illinois Central R. Road would be to make Walker property less valuable for residences, but more safe business property.

Cross Examn'd.—Think R.R. passing through Clark street depreciates adjacent property—property 150 feet away is benefitted. Think property on West side on Galena & Chicago road more valuable since road is built than before—don't know what business is carried on North of Galena & Chicago depot—am a druggist—do not deal much in real estate.

Thomas Dyer.—Consider property adjacent to Illinois Central railroad buildings and depot, as proposed, worth more than if no railroad was there—if track was in Michigan avenue, should not think it would injure that property—my opinion is that property on Water st. is more valuable than if railroad did not come through that street—this is a speculative opinion of mine—not founded on actual sales.

Cross Examn'd.—Have favorable contract with Illinois Central Railroad for receiving iron &c.

Re direct.—Consider the depot of Galena & Chicago road enhances value of adjacent property—majorities of houses in vicinity are occupied by groggeries and gambling houses.

Dr. Boone.—Know location of Illinois Central Railroad Depot and Erection—250 ft. East of Michigan av—would benefit property in vicinity—Walker property 400 ft. deep by 96 ft. on Michigan av. Worth $600 to $700 per foot on average—cutting off 200 ft. East for Railroad the remaining 250 ft. would be worth as much as whole is now without Railroad.

Cross Examined.—If Walker's pier is safe and accessible, large commercial business would grow up there—such property would be as valuable as any on River and Water St., front would be most valuable. Effect of Galena and Chicago Railroad is to injure property in street through which it runs.

With no Railroad and no commercial advantages, Walker's property worth $360 to $400 front.

Jerome Bucher.—Effect of Railroad Depot and erections will be to advance property in vicinity. Property of Walker without Railroad or commercial advantage worth $20,000 to $30,000.

Cross Examined.—With commercial advantages may be invaluable, difficult to say how much. Water st. property would prefer at 25 per cent. higher rate. Water st. property worth I think, 85 feet deep, $175 per foot. My opinion is mere fancy.

Thomas Richmond.—Railroad erection and Depot, would enhance value of property adjacent—Michigan av. front of Walker's property worth without Railroad or commercial advantages $200 per foot. Balance on Water st. worth $100 a foot. After Railroad has taken 200 feet, balance is worth more than the whole lot now without Railroad. This would be so if Railroad Co. was in sympathy with adjacent owner and disposed to give him benefits of same, otherwise it would be different.

Cross Ex'd. Can't make up opinion and value of Walker property assuming his pier is safe and accessible.

No other point about city so valuable in Rail Road property as this—Long thought so.

Walker pier valuable for coarse trade, Lumbe Coal and Wood—not for other business.—

Never have done business on Bridge Pier—Walker pier is much protected—only South and East winds effect it much—have observed this summer water is quieter in them, than I had supposed heretofore.

Ira Couch.—Supposed all property near Depot and buildings of a Rail Road, like Illinois Central, advanced in value.

Walker property worth on Michigan Avenue $5 or $600 per foot—Without Rail Road, it is worth $150 per foot,—120 ft. deep—Rear on Water st. worth $75 per ft.

Cross Ex'd. Should think Rail Road running down Lake st. or Dearborn st. would injure "Tremont House" property—Never have given Walker property any consideration—Do not know Walkers mode of improving property in question.

Dr. Gibbs.—Left Buffalo in 1843—Illinois R. Road buildings would enhance value of adjacent property should think—Rail Roads were just coming in to Buffalo as I left. Should think Exchange St. property was benefited there by them—Walker property worth on Michigan Avenue, $500 to $600 per ft.—worth less even Railroad not there.

Cross Examined.—Walker's property, if safe and accessible, worth as much as any in Water street, at same distance from business centre of city. Water street property at Norton, 105 ft. deep, worth $300 per foot—am not well acquainted with value of lots in town; am considered "an old fogy" in matters of real estate; have spoken with Hadduck on the subject; can't tell what lots have sold for lately on Michigan avenue; Laflin's lots, on Washington street, all data I can give.

Hoard.—Map of Dearbon Addition in Court—Walker's lot by it is 125 feet deep; lot 11 is 73 to 97 feet deep by it. Map made June 7th, 1839.

Cross Examined.—Walker's property, if safe and accessible, would be good commercial property, and about as good as Water street property; should prefer South Water street property, or near the centre of business.

Wm. M. Larrabee.—Effect of Illinois Road buildings will be to advance value of adjacent buildings.

Cross Examined.—Am Secretary of Galena and Chicago Railroad; the Company have had various proceedings to condemn lands for use of road; our road has not demonstrated effect of railroads in adding value of property adjacent; in neighborhood of Galena and Chicago new depot no apparent improvement yet.

A. G. Thorp.—Am of opinion that concentration of business by Illinois Road, and the erection of their buildings &c., will enhance value of property adjacent.

Cross Examined.—Am one of Directors of St. Charles Air Line Railroad—have obtained some right of way for the Company. The Southern Michigan Railroad Depot is the source of my experience of effect on adjacent property. Chief business that has grown up near Galena and Chicago Depots has thus far been groggeries and gambling houses.

B. Hadduck.—Thinks Illinois Central Railroad erection will enhance value of adjacent property—Walker's property worth with Railroad $500 per foot. Scammons $200. Walker's without Railroad worth $200 per ft. 150 ft. deep and balance worth $75 per foot.

Cross Examined—Walker's pier if safe and accessible might be worth more—$150 per foot. River st. property worth $100 or $150 a foot—have talked with Richmond and others frequently about Walker's property—have been to it often.

Defendant's evidence closed.

Capt. Whitaker.—Re examined for plaintiff—Have resided in Buffalo since 1816 and have done business since on the lake—I know no place where property in immediate vicinity of Lake has been benefited by the erection of a Depot and other buildings—know no first class property in immediate vicinity—am acquainted with depots and effect in Buffalo and eastern Cities generally—effect in Buffalo on Main street and Exchange street has been to advance property adjacent—depot in Buffalo near Western Hotel has been driven away to the "Points" the worst place in town—Exchange street property is not advanced by R. R. buildings—no good residence property in vicinity of depot.

Re-direct.—Property in Detroit near R. R. depot is good commercial property—all property on river has been that.

Evidence closed.—The case will be presented to the Commissioners by the Counsel for the respective parties to morrow.

TRADE AND COMMERCE

WEEKLY REVIEW of the CHICAGO MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE, Wednesday Evening, Sept. 21.—7 P. M.

The Produce Market, during the past week, has been in a very excited state, and so far as Wheat is concerned, marked by great fluctuation. Our sales, during each of the last six days, as shown below, give a clear idea of the change from day to day. Within the last ten days spring Wheat has declined 25 cents,—a decline unexampled in this market. This is partly caused by a reaction of the high spirit of speculation which prevailed from the 1st to the 14th instant but in the main, it is the prevalence of a prudential policy on the part of produce dealers, under a clear view of the present and prospective condition of both domestic and foreign markets.—The City Mills, which had previously put 50 cents upon their brands under the influence of the speculative excitement, have taken it off again, and are now selling their brands at the figures obtained three weeks ago.——Corn and Oats have steadily declined, though only to a small extent, compared with Wheat.

We notice sales during the week, and nominal rates at the close of the market to-day, as follows:

FLOUR.—City Mills have taken off 50 cents on their brands all round, and are now selling as follows: O'Plain, $4,75; Garden City, 4,75; Adams' Mill, 4,50; Talbot Mills, 3,75; Union Mills, 4,25; Chicago Mills, Family, 4,50; do do Extra, 5,00. We hear of no sales of Michigan or country brands; quotations nominal.

PROVISIONS.

MESS PORK.—The stock is gradually growing less, and there is not enough left in the hands of packers to supply any extraordinary demand. Sales are now made $15,50@16,00.

CUT MEATS.—Hams are getting to be scarce, and prices firm. There has been an active demand for several weeks, and the extreme rates are not so wide apart. The range is now 9½@10c ℔ lb, in lots.—Shoulders are more abundant, and selling freely at 7@7½c.—Side Meats are nominally 8½c, but we hear of none offering.

LARD.—We hear of no transactions, No. 1 in bbls selling at 12c ℔ lb, being an advance.

MACKEREL.—The supply on the market is small. No. 2's selling at $14,00 per bbl.

WHITE FISH.—Supply not so large. Half bbls, weight and inspection guarantied, selling at $3,50@4,00.

COD.—The sales to the trade are liberal at $4@4,50 ℔ 100 lbs,—the latter price for Grand Bank.

HERRING.—No change. Steady at 50c per box for No. 1, and 60c for scaled. Supply abundant.

BUTTER.—The amount coming forward is inadequate to the demand, and the price has been gradually stiffening up during the week. It is understood that parties are traversing the country, and buying up all that the farmers are making,—the object being doubtless to create a scarcity, and speculation similar to that which prevailed from September to December, last year.——We quote the present rates at 15@18c for good firkin and roll, and occasionally 16c for small lots of very choice roll.

EGGS.—There is a perceptible improvement. Fresh lots would bring 11c ℔ dozen.—For old, there is no sale.

POTATOES.—The market is well supplied, principally from wagons, at 30@35c ℔ bu, according to quality.

CHEESE.—Hamburg is worth 11c; Western Reserve, 9½@10c, and country nominally 7@8c.—There is very little on the market of any description.

BEANS.—We hear of no demand, and prices are nominal.

LIVE STOCK.

BEEF CATTLE.—The packing season will open on the first of October, though we believe the Messrs. Hough will commence next week, and probably others, also. We understand that packers have prepared for a large business, and they will do it, if good cattle can be obtained. Since our last, the number of beef cattle sold has been larger than for several weeks, and the sales show a higher average. We notice some as low as $2,25 ℔ 100 lbs, live weight, and more at $2,75. The range for good cattle is $2,50@2,75, and the demand good for all that offers.

HOGS.—Lots sell at $4,25 ℔ 100 lbs live weight.—Stock hogs are not inquired for, and are nominally $3,75 ℔ 100 lbs live weight.

SEEDS.

TIMOTHY.—Has sold during the week at $1,75@1,88 to regular dealers. Also, small lots to outside dealers, at higher figures, but these are not reliable.

FLAX.—Is in request at 100c per bu for clean lots.

CLOVER.—Is in some inquiry, and small clean lots would command $4,50@5,00 ℔ bu.

HIDES AND PELTS.—Green selling freely at 4½@5c ℔ lb; dry salt, 9½@10c; dry flint, 10½@11c; green veal, 8c; dry do, 15c. Market firm at these rates.—Pelts, sheep and lamb, of September slaughter, at 65c.

FRUITS.—Green fruits are becoming abundant. Apples selling 75c@$1,12 ℔ bu. Peaches, $1,00@1,50. Plums are abundant at prices varying from $3,50@4,00 per bu, according to quality. Cranberries, $1 per bu. Dried apples offered at $1,00@1,12. Lemons, $10,00@12,00 ℔ box. No oranges to be had. Raisins advanced, and selling at $3,25@3,50. In other articles no change.

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND LATH.—We have to notice an increased demand for the various Railroads, as also the Canal. For the city trade no change is perceptible. The following shows the amount of each article received during the first seventeen days of the present month, and also the entire receipts for the season, as appears by the books of the Collector of this Port:

	Sept (17 days.)	Total for season
Lumber, feet..........	[illegible]	[illegible]
Shingles, No..........	[illegible]	[illegible]
Laths, do..........	[illegible]	12,830,000

This is considerably below the actual receipts, as a large number of vessels entered and cleared in April, May and June, without reporting at the Custom House, and doubtless such omissions still occur. We may safely estimate that 10,000,000 feet have arrived and not been reported.——It is very evident, however, that the Lumber business for the present year will not very greatly exceed that of last year. The same is true of Shingles and Lath. This is mainly caused by the continued low stage of water in the rivers of Michigan and Wisconsin, which prevents the manufacturers from rafting what they saw down to the lake, for shipment. Had there been a sufficiency of water, we doubt not the receipts would have already amounted to 140,000,000 feet, and a corresponding increase of Shingles and Laths.——During the months of May, June, and July, the shipments by canal and railroads, and the demand for home trade, were so great, that dealers here were not able to accumulate stocks in their yards. The low water in the Illinois river, however, stopped heavy shipments to that quarter, and the commencement of harvest throughout the country had a corresponding effect upon the railroad demand. Since the 15th of July, stocks have rapidly accumulated, and there is but little doubt that with what is on hand, and the amount to arrive, the Fall trade will be fully met. But it is not expected that the winter stock will be at all sufficient to supply the demand till the opening of navigation next spring.——In this condition of things, the market prices remain firm, while on some qualities,—Fencing and Flooring, for instance,—there is an advancing tendency.——Shingles and Lath have both advanced, and a still further advance is not improbable, within the next ten or twenty days.——We note yard prices, in detail, as follows:

LUMBER.—Culls, $10; Merchantable stuff, 13@14; 2d clear, green, 18@20; 2d clear, dry, 20@22; 1st clear, green, 23@25; do do dry, 26; Joist & Scantling 13@15; flooring undressed, 20; 17@20; do dressed, 28@34; do clear, undressed, 20; Fencing, $13,50@16; Siding, common, 13; do clear, 16.

SHINGLES.—Sixteen inch, good, $2,25@2,50 ℔ M.; do common, $1,50@2,75; eighteen inch, $3,50@4.—The receipts are very light, being much less in proportion than lumber, and the prices look upward.

LATHS.—We hear of no change. Sales steady at $2,75@3 ℔ M.

SALT.

The price of Salt has been very steady during the year, at $1,75@1,75 ℔ bbl for fine. At one time sales were made as low as $1,60, and at another as high as $2,00. The season opened with less in the hands of dealers than has been noticed at the same time for four years, and no considerable amount was received until August. The receipts for the year, up to the 17th day of September, have been as follows:

May.......bbls.	776	August.......bbls	17,729
June.......... "	[illegible]	Sept. (17 days)........	7,481
July.......... "	14,387
Making a total of..........			4,9704

This is fully 15,000 less than the receipts of 1852, during the same time.—The shipments by canal from the 1st of May, to the 1st of September were, only 8,317 bbls,—also a very large decline from the previous year's shipments.——At the present time, Salt is in good supply, but there is an active demand, and prices have been growing firm for several weeks. Sales are now steady at $1,75 ℔ bbl for large lots, and $1,87 for lots less than ten bbls.—Dairy is selling at 14@15c for 20 lb sacks.——No decline in the market is expected; on the contrary, it tends upward. The combination among manufacturers, at Salina, appears to be permanently established, and under it, prices will probably never get below $1,50@1,75 here.

HAIR.—Sales by the bbl. 7 bushels, 28c per bu; in less lots, 30c.

GROCERIES.

The trade is active. We have to notice an advance in all refined sugars of from ½ to 1 cent ℔ lb. Other qualities selling at previous rates, but firm. Coffee is about 1 cent better on all descriptions. We quote present rates as follows:

SUGARS.—Prime N. O., 6@6½c; fair to good, 5½@6½c; Havanna brown, 7½c; Loaf, St. Louis, 10c; crushed, 9½@10c; clarified, 7@7½c.

MOLASSES & SYRUPS.—Prime N. O. Molasses, per gallon, 32@35c; W. I., 28@30c; S. H. N. O., 50@55c; N. O. Syrup, 50@60c; St. Louis do, 44@48c; Stewart's, 60@65c.

COFFEE.—Rio, 11@12c; O. G. Java, 14@15c.

WHISKEY.—City brands selling at 19@21c ℔ gallon, with a fair trade. Corning's Ohio selling freely at 22c.

HIGH-WINES.—The asking price is 30c ℔ gallon, but we GRAIN.—Wheat firm; supply of prime limited, and the occurrence of another break in the Canal, induces buoyancy. Sales: 15,000 white Michigan, at $1,42 for part, including 1,000 to arrive on private terms; 25,000 good to prime white Canadian, to arrive, at $1,40@1,41; 7,200 bu Genesee at $1,40; 2,750 bu Long Island, at $1,34, delivered.

A RARE CHANCE FOR A SPECULATION.

To Railway Companies, Speculators, or any one wishing to make a safe investment.

E. COWPER, Land and House Agent, 59 Clark street, has for sale Carter's Patent Right for Illinois of a Self Acting Gate for Railways. This invention is one of the most simple yet most efficient piece of machinery ever got up, and must prove to be of invaluable benefit to Railway Companies and the world at large, where gates are required at crossings. The liabilities that Railroad Companies are subject to on account of the destruction of cattle straying on the track must ever prove a great annoyance, and well as great expence in case of accident. And above all the loss of human life by the constant obstruction of tracks by stray cattle will make this simple apparatus a blessing to the whole human family. Eastern roads are now availing themselves of this valuable invention, the model of which may be seen at my office 59 Clark st. E. COWPER.

Mr. Dickinson's letter produced quite a sensation to-night in the upper political circles.

THE YELLOW FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS, &C.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9

The number of deaths reported during the twenty four hours ending this morning was 54, including 47 from yellow fever.

We have had accounts from Lower Mississippi. The fever was raging dreadfully in the villages and plantations, and large numbers of negroes were dying.

September 12.

The deaths by yellow fever reported this morning were only 40.

September 13.

The yellow fever returns for this morning show a gratifying decline. The total number of interments were 35, including 27 from yellow fever.

The fever is prevailing at Covington, Madisonville, Biloxi, Lewisburgh, Pass Christian and other places along the lake coast. It is also raging badly in Baton Rouge, Bayou Sara and other places along the Mississippi and Red Rivers. Many deaths have taken place at Alexandria, and indeed the whole Southern country is afflicted.

September 14.

The number of interments reported this morning were 48—38 from yellow fever.

The Lake Coast is still suffering dreadfully. Capt. H. L. Smith, of the Engineer Corps, died on Tuesday at Madisonville. He had previously lost five children.

Dr. D's Office,

No. 112 WELLS STREET.

THE ONLY CERTAIN REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF Secret Diseases at 112 Wells Street. By the strict system established at the Lock Hospital 112 Wells Street, all patients are secure of absolute privacy. The advantages of this system are too well known to need any comment. All who have any need of advice or attention from Dr. D., may confide in him with a full assurance of secrecy and certain hope of recovery. Some of the most learned and famous men in the country have been under his charge—men of genius, intellect and power—and in no instance has the strictness of privacy been violated.

Invalids must be cautioned against the illiterate and unlearned in science, who do so much injury by quackery and imposition. The Vegetable Medicines of Dr. D. are now sufficiently established, as the only certain remedy for Venereal complaints, and those who are affected with such complaints are seriously warned not to tamper with them, by trusting those who practice the abuse of mercury or balsam.

Dr. D. freely invites all troubled with disorders to call upon him. His charges are regulated by the circumstances of the case. No charge will be made where a cure is not effected. Dr. D. is a regular physician, having devoted many years to the exclusive study of these diseases, comprising, in their various shades, Gonorrhea, Syphilis, Impotency, Stricture, Gleet, Seminal diseases of the bones, &c. Nothing is needed but to call upon him, to make everything satisfactory in a moment. Such is the absolute efficacy of the method of his cure, that no question can possibly exist about it, when once an individual becomes acquainted with the wholesome and certain progress. It is best for a man to stay his affliction, and [illegible] himself cured.

The greatest point for the consideration of everybody is, to avoid all communication with persons unqualified to give them relief. Serious and dangerous consequences often more than the world is aware of, from the treatment of quacks and impostors.

The only certain way is to visit the Lock Hospital, or Dr. D's office, at No. 112 Wells Street, and at once place yourself under his care.

Office will be kept open from 6 A. M. until 10 P. M.

All letters (post-paid) will receive prompt attention. Any person wishing a private room, on Ho[illegible], can have it by applying to Dr. D.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Dr. ALLISON, (from the east,) has opened an office for the cure of all diseases of a confidential nature. His promises of success are predicated on a practice of over twenty-eight years, in different cities of Europe and the east. He uses no mercury—charges moderate—treats his patients in a correct and honorable way—has references of an unquestionable veracity from men of known respectability, and eminent success. All parties consulting him by letters or otherwise, will receive the best treatment and implicit secrecy. Medicines sent to any part of the country free from observation.

Seminal emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by youth of both sexes, to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz:

Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, and noise like the rustling of sheets, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, furred tongue, night sweats, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, monomania, and frequently insanity. The afflicted, on the first appearance of any of the above symptoms, should immediately apply to Dr. A. for relief.

All letters from patients, will be attended to immediately after post [illegible]. Females abroad and in the city may consult Dr. A. by letter without difficulty.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Mothers who have become victims through the depravity and criminality of their husbands, may rest assured that they and their infants can be perfectly cured.

Letters addressed to Dr. A. free of postage, containing a reasonable fee, promptly attended to, and medicines forwarded to any part of the United States and Canada.

HEALTH FOR THE STATES

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Extraordinary Cure of Loss of Health, Disordered Stomach, Indigestion and Determination of Blood to the Head.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. John Lloyd, of Erw Wen, near Harlech, Merionethshire.

To PROF. HOLLOWAY—Sir—I avail myself of the first opportunity of informing you that for a very long period I was afflicted with a dangerous giddiness and frequent swimmings in the head, attended by loss of appetite, disordered stomach, and generally impaired health. Every means had failed to give me any permanent relief, and at length it became so alarming that I was really afraid of going about without an attendant. In this melancholy condition I waited personally upon Mr. Hughes, Chemist, Harlech, for the purpose of consulting him as to what I had better do; he kindly recommended your pills; I tried them without delay, and after taking them for a short time I am happy to bear testimony to their wonderful efficacy. I am now restored to perfect health, and enabled to resume my usual duties. You are at liberty to publish this letter in any way you may think proper.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
June 6th, 1852. (Signed) JOHN LLOYD.

MIRACULOUS CURE OF DROPSY.

Extract from a Letter from Edward Rowley, Esq., of India Walk, Tobago, dated April 8th, 1852.

To PROF. HOLLOWAY—Dear Sir—I deem it a duty I owe to you and the public at large, to inform you of a most miraculous recovery from that dreadful disease, Dropsy, and which, under God, was affected by your invaluable Pills. I was tapped five times within eight months, and skilfully treated by two medical practitioners, but could not get well. If I had recourse to your remedy, and notwithstanding all I had undergone, this miraculous medicine cured me in the course of six weeks.
(Signed) EDWARD ROWLEY.

A LIVER AND STOMACH COMPLAINT WITH CONGESTION AND VIOLENT HEADACHES

Extract of a Letter from Mr. S. Gowen, Chemist, of Clifton, near Bristol, dated July 14th, 1852.

To PROF. HOLLOWAY—Dear Sir—I am requested by a lady named Thomas, just arrived from the West Indies, to acquaint you that for a period of eight years herself and family suffered from continual bad health, arising from disorders of the liver and stomach, indigestion, loss of appetite, violent head aches, pains in the side, weakness and general debility, for which she consulted the most eminent men in the colony, but without any beneficial result; at last, she had recourse to your invaluable Pills, which in a very short time effected so great a change for the better, that she continued them, and the whole family were restored to health and strength. Further she desired me to say, that she has witnessed their extraordinary virtue in those complaints incidental to children, particularly in cases of Measles and Scarlatina, having effected positive cures of these diseases with no other remedy. (Signed) S. GOWEN.

A new and superior Cooking Range, which as it becomes known will supersede the use of Cooking Stoves, as it takes less room, burns less fuel, carries off the steam from cooking, has an extra size oven, with hot closet beneath, and being supplied with a powerful water back, furnishes without extra fire a large amount of hot water at all times for bath, or other purposes. Provision is also made for the attachment of hot air fixtures, by which, in addition to its culinary department, it subserves an important purpose for warming a dining room or parlor, either above or adjacent to the apartment in which it is placed. Different sizes constantly on hand.

all of which they will sell as low as can be purchased in Cincinnati, St. Louis, or New York. For the quality of their articles they would refer to the following certificates given to the Patentee and his associates, for products of their Patent Steam Rectifying Machines; merely remarking that the principle of the Machine is such that it produces absolutely Pure Spirits, free from all contamination of fusil oil and poisonous oils, and unrivalled for the use of the Druggist, the Perfumer, and all those who need a pure, high proof spirit.
Our alcohol of 95 we can recommend to the manufacturers of Burning Fluids as being capable of dissolving a larger proportion of Camphene than any other in the market. Office No. 197 N. Water st., Chicago, where samples may be seen. WILLIAM LILL & CO.

Laboratory of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, Sept. 5th, 1851.
Gentlemen—I have examined the bottle of Alcohol of your manufacture which you placed in my hands for analysis, and find it to be an uncommonly pure article. It is free from every kind of foreign matter. Its strength, the specimen which I examined, and which had been considerably exposed to the air, was equal to that sold in the New York market as 94 per cent. JOHN TORREY, Professor of Chemistry in the New York College.
New York, Sept. 6, 1851.
We have examined the sample of Alcohol as requested, and find it very pure and free from flavor, and well adapted for Pharmaceutical preparations or Perfumery for which purposes it compares favorably with the Cologne Spirits to be found in our market. Respectfully yours, RUSHTON, CLARK & CO.

BY LETTERS PATENT SECURED IN 1849.—Pulvermacher's Patent Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains, constructed to be worn under the garments, are the most wonderful discovery in medicine and electricity of the present day. They relieve, without pain or shock, instantaneously, acute nervous pains, such as head, ear and tooth-ache, rheumatic pains, tic doloreaux, &c., and by their mild but continuous and perceptible action on the body diseases of years' standing, such as gout, local paralysis, nervous complaints, liver diseases, &c., disappear, as if by a miracle; they have been applied with the greatest success in all those dreadful diseases in children, commonly called convulsions, as also in cases of teething under difficulties and disorders of the bowels. They precipitate metals from their solutions, decompose water, deflect the magnetic needle, in short, do all the phenomena of a powerful voltaic pile. The instruments producing these effects weigh about two ounces, can be folded up in a pocket book, are always ready for instantaneous use, and will last a man his lifetime, guarding himself, family and friends, &c., against that number of diseases and complaints in which mild streaming electricity is a powerful, certain, and wonderfully speedy remedy. The price of a complete chain is from $1 to $5; batteries, $10 to $12.50. Incredible as may seem the above facts, any person can easily convince himself beforehand, at the depot, of their truth. The importance of the invention has been acknowledged in America by the Academy of Medicine of New York, and the chains have been applied with great success in the medical colleges, the City, Bellevue, and Ward's Island Hospital, Brooklyn City Hospital, &c.; in Europe, by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in London; by the Academie Nationale de Medecin at Paris; by the Imperial Faculty at Vienna; by the Royal Faculty at Berlin; and by other scientific institutions of the highest order, including the principal hospitals in Europe. The proprietors are in possession of testimonials to the same effect, from all the above institutions in America and Europe, as well as of the most eminent and distinguished members of the profession in both hemispheres, and invite the public to examine them. Full and illustrated descriptions, one for personal use and one for scientific men, with copies of testimonials and a number of cases cured in New York and Europe, may be obtained gratis, at the office. They will be forwarded, free of postage, to any part of the United States in answer to pre-paid inquiries, containing three cent postage stamps. J. STEINERT, No. 568 Broadway, cor. of Prince st., New York. S. SAWYER, Druggist, Agent for Chicago.

LIGHT! LIGHT!! LIGHT!!!
MARSH'S PATENT OIL.
A BRILLIANT, CHEAP, AND SAFE LIGHT, is what every household requires. Hundreds of thousands of property, and many lives have been sacrificed, by using combustible fluid. The danger of using Camphine, is felt by all. A vegetable oil which cannot explode, produces a clear, brilliant light, without grease, smoke, or smell, and which is more economical than any other Light, is now offered to the public. MARSH'S PATENT OIL is rapidly superseding every other article in the East, [illegible] through almost every town and village in New England, and the Southern States; and is now sending its light over the West. It is to be had only at J. H. REED & CO.'S, [illegible] Lake and [illegible] Water streets, who are Agents for the Western States; who have just arrived from the East, with a large stock of new and choice Lamps [illegible], which they solicit the public to examine, and which they are prepared to sell, at Wholesale and Retail, at such prices as must give satisfaction.

PROFESSOR ALEX. C. BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS, or Medicated Compound, for beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the hair, relieving diseases of the skin, curing rheumatic pains, and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio almost exceeds belief. Professor Barry, after a careful examination of his cash book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order in quantities of from half a gross upwards, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of [illegible]. It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. [illegible] Sold by all the principal merchants and druggists throughout the United States and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c. and by [illegible]
